Department of Assamese

Programme Outcome

Course Outcome

Semester I

ASM-HC- 1016:

This course equipped the learners with history of Assamese literature from early age to Middle age. Learners gain the concept of growth and development of Assamese literature.

ASM-HC- 1026

This course equipped the learners with history of Assamese literature from middle age (post Sankari age) to Modern age. Learners gain the concept of growth and development of Assamese literature up to present.

MIL Commerce :BCM-AE-1014+ASM-AE-1014

This course is about Communicative Assamese. The outcome of the course is that the learners gain the knowledge of communication and its variations. The course also deals with the communicative writing and oral skills of business in Assamese language. As a result the learners find themselves as eligible for business communication in Assamese after completion of the course.

Semester II

ASM-HC-2016: The main objective of this paper is to introduce the learners with language analysis and history of language studies

ASM-HC-2016: Knowledge of literary criticism is a most important part for those students who are studying literature as their honours subject. The main objective of this paper is to introduce the learners with eastern (Rasa,Dhwani,Guna Reeti) and western (Tregedy ,Absord , Short story, novel etc) criticism.

ASM- HG+RC 2016: This course equipped the learners with history and background of Assamese Literature from early age to middle age.They have to learn some significant pieces of Assamese literature.

Semester III

ASM-HC-3016: students who are studying literature as their honours subject they should appreciate the literature. Therefore this paper consists some Assamese valuable pieces of various writers by which learners can appreciate Assamese literature.

ASM-HC-3026: This course equipped the learners with Assamese poetry both early and modern eras.

ASM-HC-3036:- The course equipped the learners with Assamese culture like customs, Rituals, Religious tradition, Festivals, Arts and culture etc.

ASM-RC-3016: The learners of the paper will get the detail history of Assamese drama. Learners will also equipped with the various forms and its presentations regarding Assamese drama.

ASM-SE-3014: The course of this paper consists of basic & applied knowledge of Assamese Language by which learners can prepare themselves for a writing profession.

ASM-CC-3016-MIL: This course equipped the learners with early Assamese literature like geet,kabya ,nata & prose.

Semester IV

4th Semester – ASM-HC-4016

Title of the paper: Comparative Indian Literature

The learner will be introduced to the Indian literature at a glance. The course deals with comparative Indian literature. Learners will be able to compare the history, trend and theme of modern Indian literature and its regional values.

By this Course learners will get knowledge chanda & alankara. It is a part of eastern criticism.

Department of Economics

Programme Outcome

Course Outcome

ECO-HC-1016 Introductory Microeconomics

The course outcome of this paper on Microeconomics is as follows- Microeconomics studies the economic actions and behaviors of individual units and small groups of individual units.

In this paper study is made about how the various cells of economic organism, that is, the various units of the economy such as thousands of consumers, thousands of producer or firms, thousands of workers and resource suppliers in the economy do their economic activities and reach their equilibrium states.

Microeconomic theory studies the behaviour of the individual firm in regard to the fixation of price and output and their reactions to the changes in the demand and supply conditions.

Thus, it can be concluded that Microeconomics is a Microscopic study of the economy.

ECO-HC-1026 Mathematical Methods in Economics-1

The objective of this paper is to transit the body of basic mathematics that enables the study of economic theory at the undergraduate level, specifically the courses on Microeconomic theory, Macroeconomic theory, Statistics and Econometrics set out in the syllabus. In this course particular economic models are not the ends, but the means for illustrating the method of applying mathematical techniques to economic theory in general.

SEMESTER 2

M-2016 Introductory Macroeconomics Sem II Major}

Macroeconomics analyses the behaviour of the whole economic system in totality or entirety.

Macroeconomic course examines the determination of the level, fluctuations and trends (growth) in the overall economic activity i.e., national income, outcome and employment.

The overall consumption and investment pattern of the economy, together with inflation level, various theories to assess inflationary trends, and business Cycles are studied.

ECO-HC-2026 - Mathematical Methods in Economics-II

The objective of this paper is to transit the body of basic mathematics that enables the study of economic theory at the undergraduate level, specifically the courses on Microeconomic theory, Macroeconomic theory, Statistics and Econometrics set out in the syllabus. In this course particular economic models are not the ends, but the means for illustrating the method of applying mathematical techniques to economic theory in general.

Topics covered include application of Linear algebra to National income and Market Model, Multivariable optimization, application of differential equation to market model Difference Equation and Cob-Web Market Model.

3rd SEMESTER

ECO-HC-3016: INTERMEDIATE MICROECONOMICS - I

Course outcome

The course is designed to provide a sound training in microeconomic theory to formally analyze the behaviour of individual agents. Since students are already familiar with the quantitative techniques in the previous semesters, mathematical tools are used to facilitate understanding of the basic concepts. This course looks at the behaviour of the consumer and the producer and also covers the behaviour of a competitive firm.

ECO-HC-3026: INTERMEDIATE MACROECONOMICS - I

Course Outcome

This course introduces the students to formal modeling of a macro-economy in terms of analytical tools. It discusses various alternative theories of output and employment determination in a closed economy in the short run as well as medium run, and the role of policy in this context. It also introduces the students to various theoretical issues related to an open economy.

ECO-HC-3036: STATISTICAL METHODS FOR ECONOMICS

Course Outcome

This is a course on statistical methods for economics. It begins with some basic concepts and terminology that are fundamental to statistical analysis and inference.

It then develops the notion of probability, followed by probability distributions of discrete and continuous random variables and of joint distributions. This is followed by a discussion on sampling techniques used to collect survey data. The course introduces the notion of sampling distributions that act as a bridge between probability theory and statistical inference. The semester concludes with some topics in statistical inference that include point and interval estimation.

FOURTH SEMESTER CORE

ECO-HC-4016: INTERMEDIATE MICROECONOMICS - II

Course Outcome

This course is a sequel to Intermediate Microeconomics I. The emphasis will be on giving conceptual clarity to the student coupled with the use of mathematical tools and reasoning. It covers general equilibrium and welfare, imperfect markets and topics under information economics.

5th Semester Core

ECO-HC-5016: Indian Economy-I

Using appropriate analytical frameworks, this course reviews major trends in economics indicators and policy debates in India in the post-Independence period, with particular emphasis on paradigm shifts and turning points.

ECO-HC-5026: Development Economics-I

The course begins with a discussion of alternative conceptions of development and their justification. It then proceeds to aggregate models of growth and cross-national comparisons of the growth experience that can help evaluate these models. The axiomatic basic for inequality measurement is used to develop measures of inequality and connections between growth and inequality are explored. The course ends by linking political institutions to growth and inequality by discussing the role of the state in economics development and the informational and incentive problems that affect state governance.

ECO-HE-5026: Money and Financial Markets

This course exposes students to the theory and functioning of the monetary and financial sectors of the economy. It highlights the organization, structure and role of financial markets and institutions. It also discusses interest rates, monetary management and instruments of monetary control. Financial and banking sector reforms and monetary policy with special reference to India are also covered.

ECO-HE-5036: Public Finance

This course is a non-technical overview of government finances with special reference to India. The course does not require any prior knowledge of economics. It will look into efficiency and equity aspects of taxation of the centre, states and the local government and the issues of the fiscal federalism and decentralization in India. The course will be useful for students aiming towards careers in the government sector, policy analysis, business and journalism.

5th Semester DSE

ECO-RE/GE-5016: Economic Development and Policy in India-I

This Course reviews major trends in aggregate economic indicators in India and place these against the backdrop of major policy debates in India in the post-Independence period.

ECO-RE/GE-5026: Money and Banking

This course exposes students to the theory and functioning of the monetary and financial sectors of the economy. It highlights the organization, structure and role of financial markets and institutions. It also discusses interest rates, monetary management and instruments of monetary control. Financial and banking sector reforms and monetary policy with special reference to India are also covered.

6th semester

ECO-HE-6016: Environmental Economics

This course focuses on economics causes of environmental problems. In particular, economic principles are applied to environmental questions and their management through various economic institutions, economic incentives and other instruments and policies. Economic implications of environmental policy are also addressed as well as valuation of environmental quality, quantification of environmental damages, tools for evaluation of environmental projects such as cost-benefit analysis and environmental impact assessments. Selected topics on international environmental problems are also discussed.

ECO-HE-6026: International Economics

This course develops a systematic exposition of models that try to explain the composition, direction and consequences of international trade, and the determinants and effects of trade policy. It then builds on the models of open economy macroeconomics developed in courses 02 and 12, focusing on national policies as well as international monetary systems. It concludes with an analytical account of the causes and consequences of the rapid expansion of international financial flows in recent years. Although the course is based on abstract theoretical models, students will also be exposed to real-world examples and case studies.

ECO-HE-6036: The Economy of Assam

This course will provide students an idea of evolution of the Assam Economy from the colonial period to the contemporary time. The course is expected to help students to better appreciate the challenges and opportunities of the economy of Assam in the present context.

ECO-HC-6016: Indian Economy-II

This course examines sector-specific policies and their impact in shaping trends in key economic indicators in India. It highlights major policy debates and evaluates the Indian empirical evidence. Given the rapid changes taking place in the country, the reading list will have to be updated annually.

ECO-HC-6026: Development Economics-II

This is the second module of the economic development sequence. It begins with basic demographic concepts and their evolution during the process of development. The structure of markets and contracts is linked to the particular problems of enforcement experienced in poor countries. The governance of communities and organizations is studied and this is then linked to questions of sustainable growth. The course ends with reflections on the role of globalization and increased international dependence on the process of development.

ECO-RE/RG-6016: Economic Development and Policy in India-II

Building on the more aggregative analysis of trends in the Indian Economy offered in Economic Development and Policy-I, this course examines sector-specific trends in key indicators and their implications in the post-Independence period.

Department of Mathematics

Programme outcome

Mathematical Learning Outcomes:-

Students who have completed the requirements will:-

- Be able to perform basic competitions in higher mathematics
- Be able to read and understand middle level – proofs.
- Be able to write and understand basic proofs.
- Develop and maintain problem solving skills.
- Use Mathematical ideas to model real- world problems.
- Be able to communicate mathematical ideas with others.
- Have experience using technology and computational techniques to address mathematical ideas.
- Create awareness to become enlightened citizen with commitment to deliver one's responsibilities within the scope of bestowed right and privileges.

Course Outcome

SEMESTER-I

MAT-RC-1016:Calculus

Course Objectives: Course Objectives: The primary objective of this course is to introduce the graphs of functions and basic tools of calculus and geometric properties which are helpful in understanding their applications in real world Problems.

SEMESTER-II

MAT-RC-2016: Algebra

Course Objectives: The primary objective of this course is to introduce the basic theory of equations and trigonometric function, matrices and determinant as well as algebra of vector spaces.

Course Learning Outcomes: This course will enable the students to:

- i) Employ De Moivre's theorem to solve problems.
- ii) Learn about matrices, determinant and application in solving system of equations
- iii) Learn about vector space algebra and their application

SEMESTER-III

MAT-RC-3016: Differential Equations

Course Objectives: The main objective of this course is to introduce the students to the exciting world of differential equations and their solutions methods.

Course Learning Outcomes: The course will enable the students to:

- i) Learn basics of differential equations and methods for solving.

SEMESTER-IV

MAT-RC-4016: Real Analysis

Course Objectives: The course will develop a deep and rigorous understanding of real line \mathbb{R} and of defining terms to prove the results about convergence and divergence of sequences and series of real numbers.

SEMESTER-V

MAT-SE-5314: Combinatorics and Graph Theory

Unit 1: Elementary combinatorial, Rules of sum and product, two models of counting, sample and distribution model of counting. Examples and solution. Integer solution of an equilateral problem.

[1] Chapter 3

Unit 2: Graphs, Diagraphs, Networks and sub graphs, Vertex degree, Paths and cycles, Regular and bipartite graphs, Four cube problem, Social networks, Exploring and traveling, Eulerian and Hamiltonian graphs, Applications to dominoes, Diagram tracing puzzles, Knight's tour Problem, Gray codes.

SEMESTER-VI

MAT-SE-6414: LaTeX and HTML(P)

Unit 1: Elements of LaTeX; Hands-on-training of LaTeX; graphics in LaTeX; PSTricks; Beamer presentation

[1] Chapters - 9, Chapter -10, Chapter-11.

Unit 2: HTML, creating simple web pages, images and links, design of web pages.

[1] Chapter 9-11, Chapter - 15

Practical: Six practical should be done by each student. We assign practical from the exercises from [1].
